

Santo Bohemio works with a "live" menu, changing with to the season, and depends hugely on the fresh produce available to the chef's new creations on any given week.

That's why their menu is written on blackboards and presented table-to-table.

Each dish is personally explained, along with its ingredients and processes each time you visit.

